[1] Until within recent years the appointment or election of a President pro tempore was held by the Senate to be for the occasion only, so that more than one appears in several sessions and in others none was chosen. Since Mar. 12, 1890, they have served until "the Senate otherwise ordered."

[2] The Constitution (art. I, sec. 4) provided that "The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year * * * on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day." Pursuant to a resolution of the Continental Congress, the first session of the First Congress convened Mar. 4, 1789. Up to and including May 20, 1820, 18 acts were passed providing for the meeting of Congress on other days in the year. Since that year Congress met regularly on the first Monday in December until 1934, when the twentieth amendment to the Constitution became effective, changing the meeting of Congress to Jan. 3. The first and second sessions of the First Congress were held in New York City; subsequently, including the first session of the Sixth Congress, Philadelphia was the meeting place; since then Congress has convened in Washington.

[3] Elected to count the vote for President and Vice President, which was done Apr. 6, 1789, a quorum of the Senate then appearing for the first time. John Adams, Vice President, appeared Apr. 21, 1789, and took his seat as President of the Senate.

[4] Elected Speaker pro tempore for Apr. 20, 1798, and again for May 28, 1798.

CAPITOL BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

UNITED STATES CAPITOL

The Capitol is situated on a plateau 88 feet above the level of the Potomac River and covers an area of 175,170 square feet, or approximately 4 acres. Its length, from north to south, is 751 feet 4 inches; its greatest width, including approaches, is 350 feet. The geographic position of the head of the Statue of Freedom surmounting the dome is described by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey as latitude 38°53′22.909″ north and longitude 77°00′33.706″ west from Greenwich.

Its height above the base line on the east front to the top of the Statue of Freedom is 287 feet 5½ inches. The dome is built of iron, and the aggregate weight of material used in its construction is 8,909,200 pounds.

The Statue of Freedom, 19 feet 6 inches in height, is entirely of bronze and weighs 14,985 pounds. The pedestal is of iron, painted to conform to the color of the statue. The statue was modeled by Thomas Crawford, American sculptor, in Rome, Italy, and the plaster model was shipped to this country. It was cast in bronze at the shops of Clark Mills, near Bladensburg, Md., at a cost of $20,796.82. In addition, the sculptor, Thomas Crawford, was paid $3,000 for the plaster model, making the entire cost of the statue $23,796.82. The last section of the statue, the head and shoulders, was raised into position on December 2, 1863.

SELECTION OF A SITE FOR THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

When this Nation emerged victorious from its struggle for liberty, it had no site for its Federal Government. The Continental Congress, either through necessity or voluntarily, met in eight different cities: Philadelphia, Baltimore, Lancaster, York, Princeton, Annapolis, Trenton, and New York City.

The subject of a permanent Capital for the General Government of the United States was first approached in Congress on the 30th day of April 1783.

The Constitution of the United States, provided in Article I, Section 8, the following:

> "To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States, and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the Government of the United States, ..."

The State of Maryland, by Act approved December 23, 1788, did cede to Congress "any district in this State, not exceeding ten miles square, ..."

The State of Virginia, by Act approved December 3, 1789, also ceded "not exceeding ten miles square, or any lesser quantity . . . ."

These cessions of territory were accepted by Act of Congress approved July 16, 1790. "That a district or territory not exceeding ten miles square to be located as hereafter directed on the river Potomac, at some space between the mouths of the Eastern branch and Conogocheague, be, and the same is hereby, accepted for the permanent seat of the Government of the United States: . . . ."

President Washington, by Proclamation dated January 24, 1791, designated the experimental boundary lines of the District, as beginning at a point on Hunting Creek (in Virginia where it enters the Potomac River) and ordered the Commissioners appointed by him on January 22, 1791, "to survey, and by proper metes and bounds to define and limit the part within the same which is hereinbefore directed for immediate location and acceptance; . . ."

The lines designated in the proclamation of January 24, 1791, were approved by Congress but as the original act of July 16, 1790, required the location of the District "above the mouth of the Eastern Branch or Anacostia river," the act was amended March 3, 1791, as follows: "and that it shall be lawful for the President to make any part of the said territory, below the said limit, and above the mouth of Huntington (sic) Creek, a part of the said district," and also provided "That nothing herein contained shall authorize the erection of the public buildings otherwise than on the Maryland side of the river Potomac, as required by the aforesaid act."

After an agreement with the landowners of the area within the city proper on March 30, 1791, President Washington by Proclamation on the same day, fixed the boundary as "Beginning at Jones's Point, being the upper Cape of Hunting Creek, in Virginia, and at an angle in the outset of forty-five degrees west of the north and running in a direct line ten miles, for the first line; then beginning again at the same Jones's Point, and running another direct line, at a right angle with the first, across the Potomac ten miles, for the second line; thence from the termination of the said first and second lines, running two other lines of ten miles each, the one crossing the Eastern Branch aforesaid and the other the Potomac, and meeting each other in a point."

On April 15, 1791, the cornerstone of the lines of the Federal territory was laid at Jones's Point "with great solemnity" in the presence of the Commissioners and a large number of persons.

Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant was entrusted to prepare plans for laying out the city into streets, avenues, squares, lots, etc., and the plan was carried out under the direction of Andrew Ellicott.

On March 2, 1797, President Washington, by proclamation, directed the trustees, Thomas Beall of George, and John M. Gantt, to "convey all the streets in the city of Washington as they are laid out and delineated in the plan of the said city . . . to the use of the United States forever, . . ."

The proclamation also described the public appropriations (later called reservations) as areas for public domain of which number two, including the Mall, East of 15th Street, was to be Capitol Square.

The area selected for "the Congress House" was on Jenkins' Hill, a part of Cerne Abbey Manor, owned by Daniel Carroll of Duddington, who was one of the original proprietors and a signer of the agreement of March 30, 1791, wherein it recites, "For the streets, the proprietors shall receive no compensation, but for the squares or lands in any form which shall be taken for public buildings or any kind of public improvements or uses, the proprietors whose land shall be so taken shall receive at the rate of £25 per acre, to be paid by the public." (Note: a pound of currency at that time was equal to $2.66+ or $66.66 per acre.)

Daniel Carroll of Duddington was a cousin of Daniel Carroll of Maryland, one of the original Commissioners of the city appointed by President Washington on January 22, 1791.

By Act of Congress approved July 9, 1846 (9 Stat. 35), the entire area previously ceded by the State of Virginia on December 3, 1789, was returned to that State as not being required or necessary for the use of the District.

PLANS FOR THE CAPITOL BUILDING

After a site for the Capitol was selected, the Commissioners placed advertisements offering a prize of $500 or a medal of the same value, for the "most approved plan" for a Capitol Building. Sixteen plans were submitted—some writers claim 17—but of these plans none was wholly satisfactory. In October 1792, Dr. William Thornton, a versatile physician of Tortola, West Indies, requested by letter an opportunity to present a plan as within the terms of the original advertisement. The request was granted and his plan accepted by the Commissioners on April 5, 1793.

President Washington approved the plan on July 25, 1793, and on September 18, 1793, the cornerstone was laid with Masonic ceremonies in the southeast corner of the north section of the building. Thornton's plan provided for a central section nearly square in area, surmounted by a low dome, this central section to be flanked on the north and south by rectangular buildings, with a length of 126 feet and a width of 120 feet. The northern wing was completed in 1800. In this small building the legislative and judicial branches of the government, as well as the courts of the District of Columbia, were accommodated. The government moved from Philadelphia in 1800, and Congress met in the new Capitol in November. The Supreme Court's first session in the new Capitol was in February 1801.

BUILDING OF THE CAPITOL

Development of the Thornton plan began with the construction of the first unit of the building, now known as the northern, or Supreme Court section. Three architects were employed on this work—Stephen H. Hallet, George Hadfield and James Hoban, architect of the White House. The construction of the southern unit, now known as the Statuary Hall section, was carried out by Benjamin H. Latrobe. In 1807 the House of Representatives occupied its new legislative chamber, but the wing was not completed until 1811. Previously the House had met in the Supreme Court section of the Capitol and later in a temporary brick structure within the walls of the southern portion of the building, known as the Oven. A wooden passageway connected the two wings of the original building, and this was still in use when the building was burned by the British on August 24, 1814.

The work of reconstructing the damaged interiors was begun by Latrobe in 1815. He continued the restoration until his resignation in November 1817, when Charles Bulfinch was appointed. Bulfinch was a prominent architect of Boston, Mass., and under his direction the restoration was completed and the new central portion of the building was accomplished. The "Bulfinch," or original low dome built of wood and covered with copper, was the dominant feature of the Capitol for more than a quarter of a century. When the building was completed in 1829, the services of Charles Bulfinch terminated and there was no Architect of the Capitol again until 1851.

Immediately after the fire in 1814, Congress met for one session in Blodgets' Hotel, which was at Seventh and E Streets NW. From 1815 to 1819 Congress occupied the Old Brick Capitol, a building erected specifically for them on First Street NE., on part of the site now occupied by the Supreme Court Building.

The original Capitol as completed in 1829 was built of Aquia Creek sandstone from Virginia. The structure was 351 feet 7½ inches in length at ground level and 282 feet 10½ inches in depth at ground level including the East Portico and steps. The cost of this original building, including the grading of the grounds, repairs, etc., up to the year 1827 was $2,432,851.34.

By 1851 the expanding needs of Congress made additions to the Capitol necessary. From several plans submitted, those drawn by the famed Philadelphia architect, Thomas U. Walter, for the extension of the Senate and Housewings were selected.

On July 4, 1851, the cornerstone of the extension was laid in the northeast corner of the House wing by President Millard Fillmore. Daniel Webster, Secretary of State, delivered the oration. During his tenure as Architect of the Capitol from 1851 until 1865, Thomas U. Walter directed the construction of the Senate and House wings. The exterior marble came from quarries at Lee, Mass., and the marble for the columns was quarried at Cockeysville, Md. The present House Chamber was occupied December 16, 1857, and the Senate first met in its present Chamber on January 4, 1859.

The addition of the Senate and House wings made the construction of a new dome necessary for the preservation of good architectural proportions. Between 1856 and 1865 the old low wooden dome was replaced with the now familiar cast iron structure designed by Thomas U. Walter. The overall width of the dome at the base is 135 feet 5 inches. The rotunda, or interior of the dome is 96 feet in diameter, and the height from the floor to the apex of the Brumidi fresco in the canopy is 180 feet 3 inches.

The Capitol has a floor area of 16½ acres, with approximately 540 rooms devoted to offices, committee rooms, storage, restaurants and other purposes. There are 658 windows and approximately 850 doorways. The dome receives light through 108 windows. From the Architect's office in the basement floor to the top of the dome there is a winding stairway with 365 steps.

During the period from July 1949 to January 1951, under appropriations totaling $5,102,000, the roofs and skylights of the Senate and House wings and the connecting corridors were replaced with new roofs of concrete and steel covered with copper.

The cast-iron and glass ceilings of the Senate and House Chambers were replaced with new ceilings of stainless steel and plaster, and a laylight of carved glass and bronze was placed in the center of each ceiling. Alterations and improvements, including air conditioning, lighting, and acoustics, were made to the interior of each Chamber, the cloakrooms and adjacent areas. These alterations were the first major changes made in the Senate and House in the 90 years since their initial occupancy. The roof over the Statuary Hall wing and the Old Supreme Court wing had been reconstructed and fireproofed in 1902.

Plans for remodeling the Senate and House Chambers incorporated design elements from sources of Federal architecture used by Thornton and Latrobe in the Supreme Court and Statuary Hall sections of the Capitol, and from other buildings of the early Republic.

During the renovation program the Senate and House vacated their Chambers on three occasions to allow the work to progress. The Senate held its sessions in the old Senate Chamber, which it had vacated in 1859. The House met in what is now the Ways and Means Committee room in the Longworth House Office Building.

The first time was in 1940, when temporary supports were installed under the old ceilings of the Chambers. On this occasion the Senate and House vacated their Chambers November 22, 1940 and returned January 3, 1941. The second time was in 1949, when the first-stage construction work was performed. The Senate and House vacated their Chambers July 1, 1949 and returned January 3, 1950. In 1950, when the second, or final-stage construction work was performed, the Senate vacated its Chamber August 11, 1950 and returned to its refurbished Chamber January 3, 1951. The House vacated its Chamber September 1, 1950, and returned to its refurbished Chamber January 1, 1951.

EXTENSION OF THE CAPITOL

Under legislation contained in the Legislative Appropriation Act, 1956, Public Law 242, 84th Congress, as amended by Public Law 406, 84th Congress, provision is made for extension, reconstruction, and replacement of the central portion of the United States Capitol and other related improvements.

Under the approved plans, a new east front in marble, faithfully reproducing the design of the old sandstone front, was constructed 32½ feet east of the old front. The east walls of the connections between the central front and the Senate and House wings were also reproduced to the east. The old sandstone walls have remained in place and become a part of the interior wall construction.

This work was begun in 1958 and completed in 1962. The project was carried forward by the Architect of the Capitol under the direction of the Commission for Extension of the United States Capitol created by Public Law 242.

Authorized cost for this work, including repairs to and rehabilitation of the dome, construction of a subway terminal under the Senate wing steps and reconstruction of such steps, cleaning of the Senate and House wings, birdproofing the building, furniture and furnishings for the new areas, and providing improved lighting throughout the building, totaled $24 million.

In 1964, $125,000 was appropriated for a fresh engineering survey of the conditions of the West Central Front. The study was completed and submitted to the Commission in charge early in 1965. The study was considered by the Commission at a public hearing, June 24, 1965. At the close of the hearing the Commission Members voted unanimously that the Architect of the Capitol be authorized and directed to submit to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees a request for funds for preparation of a new set of preliminary plans and estimates of cost for extension in marble of the West Central Front of the Capitol, based on the findings in the engineering report.

In 1965, Congress provided $300,000 for such preliminary plans, estimates of cost, and a model. The preliminary plans and estimates of cost have been completed and submitted to the Commission and the Congress. The model has been completed and is on display in the crypt below the rotunda in the Capitol.

In 1968, Congress appropriated $135,000 for shoring portions of the West Front, painting, and caulking of the old sandstone. This work was completed during 1968.

Contract for excavation and construction of foundation was awarded in December 1975. This also included clearing of the site and piping for utilities. Groundbreaking took place January 5, 1976. Contract for furnishing and delivery of the exterior stone was awarded February 1977 and the contract for the superstructure which included wall and roof systems and the erection of all exterior stone work, was awarded October 1977. Contract for the first portion of the interior and related work was awarded December 1978.

CAPITOL GROUNDS

The original Capitol Grounds, at one time a part of Cerne Abbey Manor, were occupied at an early date by a subtribe of the Algonquin Indians known as the Powhatans, whose council house was then located at the foot of the hill.

These grounds, part of original reservation 2, were acquired under President Washington's proclamations of 1790 and 1797 for use as a site for the United States Capitol Building. These proclamations authorized the appropriation of all of reservation 2 which, in its entirety, included the "Capitol Square and the Mall east of Fifteenth Street West."

Additional ground (squares 687–688) was acquired under appropriations provided by Congress in 1872 and 1873 in order to obtain a better landscape surrounding in keeping with the Senate and House wings which had been added to the building since the acquisition of the original site. The purchase of this additional property completed the acquisition of the area known as the old section of the Capitol Grounds, in all, 58.8 acres.

Under a plan developed by Frederick Law Olmsted of New York, the terraces were built on the north, west, and south sides of the building from 1884 to 1892. The entire grounds were developed and improved from 1874 to 1892.

During the period 1910–35 the Capitol Grounds were further enlarged and improved by the purchase, annexation, and development of 61.4 additional acres located north of Constitution Avenue.

From 1955 to 1957 part of the new area, located over and in the vicinity of the Senate Garage, was reconstructed from funds provided in the Second Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1955.

The area of the Capitol Grounds has been increased periodically since 1935. The Capitol Grounds, as defined by Public Law 570, 79th Congress, approved July 31, 1946, as amended by Public Law 90–108, 90th Congress, approved October 20, 1967, includes 181.3 acres of lawn areas, sidewalks, streets, and roadways.

HOUSE OFFICE BUILDINGS

CANNON HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING

An increased membership of the Senate and House resulted in a demand for additional rooms for the accommodations of the Senators and Representatives. On March 3, 1903, the Congress authorized the erection of a fireproof office building for the use of the House Members. The first brick was laid July 5, 1905, in square No. 690, and formal exercises were held at the laying of the cornerstone on April 14, 1906, in which President Theodore Roosevelt participated. The building was completed and occupied January 10, 1908. A subsequent change in the basis of congressional representation made necessary the building of an additional story in 1913–14. The total cost of the building, including site, furnishings, equipment, and the subway connecting the House Office Building with the United States Capitol, amounted to $4,860,155. This office building contains about 500 rooms, and was considered at the time of its completion fully equipped for all the needs of a modern building for office purposes.

Pursuant to authority in the Second Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1955, and subsequent action of the House Office Building Commission, remodeling of the Cannon Building began in 1966. The estimated cost of this work, $5,200,000, is included in total appropriation of $135,134,000 for the additional House Office Building Project.

LONGWORTH HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING

Under legislation contained in authorization act of January 10, 1929, and in the urgent deficiency bill of March 4, 1929, provisions were made for an additional House Office Building, to be located on the west side of New Jersey Avenue (opposite the first House Office Building).

The cornerstone was laid June 24, 1932, and the building was completed and ready for beneficial occupancy April 20, 1933. It contains 251 two-room suites and 16 committee rooms. Each suite and committee room is provided with a storeroom. Eight floors are occupied by Members. The basement and subbasement contain shops and mechanics needed for the proper maintenance of the building. The cost of this building, including site, furnishings, and equipment, was $7,805,705.

RAYBURN HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING AND OTHER RELATED CHANGES AND IMPROVEMENTS

Under legislation contained in the Second Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1955, provision was made for construction of an additional fireproof office building and other appurtenant and necessary facilities for the use of the House of Representatives; for acquisition of real property located south of Independence Avenue in the vicinity of the Capitol Grounds for purposes of construction of such building and facilities and as additions to the Capitol Grounds; for changes to the present House Office Buildings and changes or additions to the present subway systems.

All work was carried forward by the Architect of the Capitol under the direction of the House Office Building Commission at an authorized limit of cost to be fixed by such Commission. Appropriations totaling $135,279,000 have been provided to date for carrying forward work under this project.

Under this program, property consisting of eight city squares was acquired. Contracts were let for necessary architectural and engineering services for the project; for reconstruction of a section of Tiber Creek sewer running through the site of the new building; for excavations and foundations, structural steel, superstructure, furniture and furnishings for the new building; for a cafeteria in the courtyard of the existing Longworth House Office Building; for remodeling of the Cannon House Office Building; for improved lighting and other improvements in the Longworth House Office Building; and for an underground garage in the courtyard of the Cannon House Office Building and two underground garages in Squares 637 and 691, south of the Rayburn and Longworth Buildings.

The Rayburn Building is connected to the Capitol by a subway from the center of the Independence Avenue upper garage level to the southwest corner of the Capitol.

The building contains 169 congressional suites; nine full-committee hearing rooms for nine standing committees, 16 subcommittee hearing rooms, committee staff rooms and other committee facilities; a large cafeteria and other restaurant facilities; an underground garage accommodating 1,600 automobiles; and a variety of liaison offices, press and television facilities, maintenance and equipment shops or rooms, and storage areas. The building has nine stories and a penthouse for machinery.

The cornerstone was laid May 24, 1962, by Hon. John W. McCormack, Speaker of the House of Representatives. President John F. Kennedy participated in the cornerstone laying and delivered the address.

A portion of the basement floor was occupied beginning March 12, 1964, by House of Representatives personnel moved from the George Washington Inn property. Full occupancy of the Rayburn Building, under the room-filing regulations, was begun February 23, 1965, and completed April 2, 1965.

SENATE OFFICE BUILDINGS

RICHARD BREVARD RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING

The demand for an office building for the Representatives was greater because of their larger membership, and the Senate had been supplied with additional office space by the purchase of the Maltby Building, then located on the northwest corner of B Street and New Jersey Avenue NW. This building provided but a temporary need, and when it was condemned as an unsafe structure it was necessary that the Senators have safer and more commodious office space. Under authorization of the act of April 28, 1904, square 686 on the northeast corner of Delaware Avenue and B Street NE. was purchased as a site for the Senate Office Building. The plans for the House Office Building were adapted for the Senate Office Building, with the exception that the side of the building fronting on First Street NE. was temporarily omitted. The cornerstone was laid without special exercises on July 31, 1906, and the building was occupied March 5, 1909. In 1931 the completion of the fourth side of the building was commenced. In 1933 it was completed, together with alterations to the C Street facade, and the construction of terraces, balustrades, and approaches. The cost of the completed building, including the site, furnishings, equipment and the subway connecting the Senate Office Building with the United States Capitol was $8,390,892.

The building was named the "Richard Brevard Russell Office Building" by Senate Resolution 296, 92d Congress, agreed to October 11, 1972.

EVERETT MCKINLEY DIRKSEN OFFICE BUILDING

Under legislation contained in the Second Deficiency Appropriation Act, 1948, Public Law 785, 80th Congress, provision was made for an additional office building for the United States Senate with limits of cost of $1,100,000 for acquisition of the site and $20,600,000 for constructing and equipping the building.

The authorized limit of cost for construction and equipment of the building was increased to $23,446,000 by the Legislative Branch Appropriation Act, 1958, and Public Law 85-85, 85th Congress and to $24,196,000 by the Second Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1959, Public Law 86-30, 86th Congress. All work was carried forward by the Architect of the Capitol under the direction of the Senate Office Building Commission.

The site was acquired and cleared in 1948-49 at a total cost of $1,011,492.

A contract for excavation, concrete footings and mats for the new building was awarded in January 1955, in the amount of $747,200. Ground breaking ceremonies were held January 26, 1955.

A contract for the superstructure of the new building was awarded September 9, 1955, in the amount of $17,200,000 and the building is now completed. The cornerstone was laid July 13, 1956.

As a part of this project, a new underground subway system was installed from the Capitol to both the Old and New Senate Office Buildings.

An appropriation of $1,000,000 for furniture and furnishings for the new building was provided in the Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1958, Public Law 85-170, 85th Congress. An additional appropriation of $283,550 was provided in the Second Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1959, Public Law 86-30, 86th Congress. The building was accepted for beneficial occupancy October 15, 1958.

The building was named the "Everett McKinley Dirksen Office Building" by Senate Resolution 296, 92d Congress, agreed to October 11, 1972.

EXTENSION TO THE DIRKSEN OFFICE BUILDING

Construction of an extension to the Dirksen Building was authorized by the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1973, Public Law 92-607, approved October 31, 1972, and appropriations of $85,147,000 have been provided for that purpose. The completion of the extension is scheduled for 1981.

Senate Resolution 525, passed August 30, 1976, provides that when the extension is completed it will be named the Philip A. Hart Office Building.

In 1969 Congress appropriated the sum of $2,275,000 to include the cost of emergency shoring and other temporary repairs; contract plans and specifications for extending the West Central Front if that action should be directed by the Commission in charge or the Congress; and not more than $250,000 of the appropriated amount for studying and reporting the feasibility and cost of restoration. Those actions were completed.

WEST CENTRAL FRONT OF THE CAPITOL

In accordance with Public Law 95-94, approved August 5, 1977, the Architect of the Capitol was authorized to prepare drawings and specifications for (1) restoration of the West Central Front of the Capitol, and (2) extension of the West Central Front of the Capitol; the drawings and specifications to be prepared in such detail as will enable the cost of restoration and extension to be ascertained. Contracts have been awarded for completion of those studies.

CAPITOL POWER PLANT

During the development of the plans for fireproof office buildings for occupancy by the Senators and Representatives, the question of heat, light, and power was considered. The Senate and House wings of the Capitol were heated by separate heating plants. The Library of Congress also had in use a heating plant for that building, and it was finally determined that the solution of the heating and lighting, with power for elevators, could be adequately met by the construction of a central power plant to furnish all heat and power, as well as light, for the Capitol group of buildings.

Having determined the need of a central power plant, a site was selected in Garfield Park, bounded by New Jersey Avenue, South Capitol Street, Virginia Avenue, and E Street SE. This park being a Government reservation, an appropriation of money was not required to secure title. The determining factors leading to the selection of this site were its nearness to the tracks of the now Penn Central RR and its convenient distance to the river and the buildings to be served by the plant.

The dimensions of the Capitol Power Plant, which was constructed under authorization of act of April 28, 1904, and completed and placed in operation in 1910, are 244 feet 8 inches by 117 feet, with a maximum height of 85 feet. The building is supported upon concrete foundations resting upon 903 simplex reinforced concrete piles (originally 790; 113 added in 1951-52); the superstructure is of red brick. There are two radial brick chimneys 174 feet in height (reduced from 212 feet to 174 feet in 1951-52) and 11 feet in diameter at the top.

The buildings originally served by the Power Plant were connected by a reinforced-concrete steam tunnel 7 feet high by 4½ feet wide, with walls approximately 12 inches thick. This tunnel originated at the Power Plant and terminated at the Senate Office Building, with connecting tunnels for the Cannon House Office Building, the Capitol, and the Library of Congress. Subsequently it was extended to the Government Printing Office and the Washington City Post Office, with steam lines extended to serve the Longworth House Office Building, the Supreme Court Building, the Annex to the Library of Congress, and the Botanic Garden.

Under authority of Public Law 413, 81st Congress, a new reinforced concrete walk-through tunnel, 10 feet 6 inches wide by 11 feet high, with walls of a minimum thickness of 14 inches, containing steam lines, condensate return lines, and chilled water lines, was constructed during the period 1952–54 from the Power Plant to the Russell Office Building. This tunnel was placed in service during the calendar year 1954, at which time the use of the section of the old tunnel under First Street between Independence Avenue and Constitution Avenue was discontinued. This East tunnel also serves the Dirksen Office Building, the Supreme Court Building, and the two Library Buildings. The Capitol, the Cannon Building, the Longworth Building, and the Rayburn Building are served with steam for heating and chilled water for air-conditioning by the West distribution systems.

Three new steam generators, with a total steam generating capacity of 330,000 pounds per hour, were installed at the Plant during the period 1951–53 and were placed in service in the calendar year 1954, at which time the old boilers in use for 30 years were abandoned.

In September 1951 when the demand for electrical energy was approaching the maximum capability of the obsolescent turbo-generators at the Capitol Power Plant, arrangements were made under the authority of Public Law 413, 81st Congress, to purchase all electric service from the local public utility company and, simultaneously, to discontinue the generation of electrical energy at the Capitol Power Plant. The soundness of the judgment and the competence of the engineering analysis that prompted these actions has since been confirmed by the actual increased demand for electrical energy. Since September 1951 the simultaneous demand resulting from the increasing needs of the Capitol, the Legislative Office Buildings, the Library of Congress Buildings, the Supreme Court Building and the Capitol Power Plant has increased from 13,000 kilowatts in 1951 to 37,000 in 1975 and, during the same period, the energy consumption has increased from approximately 41 million kilowatt-hours to more than 140 million kilowatt-hours annually.

Under authority of Public Law 413 the electrical distribution systems in all buildings and facilities under the jurisdiction of the Architect of the Capitol have been converted from 25-cycle alternating current and direct-current energy to 60-cycle alternating-current energy. On January 11, 1963, the last of the five AC/DC motor-generator sets in the Dynamo Room in the Capitol was permanently shut down and the old equipment in this room has since been dismantled and removed from the building. On September 15, 1965, the last item of 25-cycle equipment was removed from service while the original coal-handling system at the Power Plant was replaced by a new system. The new coalhandling system having a capacity for distributing 200 tons of coal during each hour of operation was placed in service on December 28, 1965.

In 1935 the Congress authorized the air-conditioning of the Capitol, Senate and House Office Buildings and provided therefor an appropriation of $2,550,000 and, in 1937, an additional amount of $1,672,000, including authorization for construction of a central refrigeration plant to serve the new air-conditioning systems. An addition to the Power Plant Building, 123 feet 2 inches long, 79 feet 6 inches wide, with a height of 37 feet 10 inches, was constructed to house six 800-ton reciprocating-type refrigeration machines, auxiliary apparatus and piping. This plant was placed in operation May 16, 1938, and was, at that time, the largest central chilled-water plant ever constructed. Under authority of Public Law 413, 81st Congress, the obsolete reciprocating-type refrigeration machines installed in 1938 were replaced by four 2,200-ton centrifugal-type refrigeration machines thereby increasing the capacity of the plant from 4,800 to 8,800 tons. Also a new cooling tower was installed on the Capitol Power Plant Grounds to replace the old River Pump House which, until that time, supplied condensing water from the Anacostia River for the old steam-electric generating equipment and the reciprocating-type refrigeration machines. The River Pump House has since been transferred to the custody of the Government of the District of Columbia. The four new centrifugal-type refrigeration compressors were installed during the period 1955–57. In addition to the Capitol, the two Senate Office Buildings and the three House Office Buildings, this refrigeration plant now serves the Library of Congress Annex and the United States Supreme Court Building which were originally supplied with refrigeration for air-conditioning by separate isolated plants in each building. New air-conditioning facilities for the Main Building of the Library of Congress, authorized under Public Law 87-130, 87th Congress, now are being served by the central refrigeration plant and its chilled-water distribution system.

Under authority of Public Law 85-895, 85th Congress, a program for further expansion of the Capitol Power Plant was authorized to be carried forward by the Architect of the Capitol at a total cost of $6.5 million. This program provides for the necessary enlargement of the capacity of the plant and its distribution systems to supply heat and refrigeration for the Rayburn House Office Building completed in 1964, and other authorized improvements. Under this program two 1,100-ton, two 2,000-ton refrigeration machines and a 6,600-ton cooling tower have been installed and placed in operation. In addition, the construction of a buried chilled water pipe line extending from the southeast corner of the Russell Office Building to the west side of the central portion of the Capitol Building was completed in March 1963. The construction of this pipe line provides an interconnection between the existing East and West chilled-water distribution systems.

In anticipation of the installation of additional refrigeration machines, eight obsolete, disused boilers and four disused steam-turbine driven electric generators were removed from the Capitol Power Plant under the authority of Public Law 85-895. During the calendar year 1964 the installation of the two new aforementioned 2,200-ton refrigeration machines was completed and preliminary operating tests were performed successfully at the end of the 1964 cooling season. Also during the calendar year 1964, four new oil-fired steam generators were installed and these units were placed in service in the summer of 1965.

A new railroad siding was completed in 1964. The new tracks on the Capitol Power Plant Grounds accommodate eight loaded coal cars of 70 tons capacity each, and eight empty cars. The redesign of the track system has not only provided the coal delivery capacity needed for the increased heating load but it also has released for future expansion of the plant facilities about 3½ acres of plant property not previously available for such purpose. The new railroad siding also makes possible more expeditious handling of coal cars and has eliminated the hazards associated with car derailments experienced with the old system of tracks.

During the calendar year 1968 modifications and extensions to the "West" steam distribution system from the Capitol Power Plant to Independence Avenue via South Capitol Street, were accomplished. These modifications include steam service facilities for the two underground garages constructed on squares 637 and 691.

The installation of an enlarged and highly efficient boiler feedwater treatment plant consisting of feedwater pumping units, treated water transfer pumps, deaerating feedwater heater, sodium zeolite water softening tanks, salt-regenerated anion dealkalizer tanks, instruments and associated auxiliary components was competed during the 1969 summer season.

The deteriorated cork insulating covering on the chilled water piping system in the Slouth Capitol Street Tunnel connecting the Longworth House Office Building to the Capitol Power Plant was removed and replaced with new glass fiber covering during the calendar year 1970. The original covering in the 1500-foot tunnel section was in use for more than 30 years.

Under funds granted for the fiscal year 1971, a study was made to determine the changes required at the plant for increase in capacity to provide expanded services to the Library of Congress James Madison Memorial Building, the proposed extension of the Everett McKinley Dirksen Building, other prospective buildings, and other foreseeable demands; further confining such expansion to remain within the constraints of all projected regulations for clean air, clean water and noise abatements resulting from power plant operations in this area projected to the year 2000.

This study was completed and presented to the House Office Building Commission in 1971. The Commission approved the short-range program recommended by the Architect. Funds in the amount of $1,200,000 were appropriated in the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 1972, for design and engineering preparations for the short-range program. Development of the plans is underway. The project was authorized in the Second Supplemental Appropriation Act, 1963. Funds in the amount of $30,600,000 have been provided for modifications and enlargement of the Capitol Power Plant.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The District of Columbia is a separate political entity within the United States which serves as the seat of the Federal Government. In addition to its status as the Nation's Capital, Washington, D.C. also has its own local governmental structure.

The District's elected mayor and 13-member council govern under a congressional delegation of home rule powers. The home rule charter was approved December 24, 1973, and accepted by the citizens in a referendum held May 7, 1974. Under the U.S. Constitution, Congress retains ultimate legislative authority over the District, and the annual municipal budget still requires House and Senate passage.

Prior to the 1973 Self-Government Act, the District's citizens had been granted the right to vote for the President of the United States (by the XXIII Amendment ratified in 1961). District residents have also elected their school board since 1968 and a nonvoting delegate to the U.S. House of Representatives since 1970.

In 1978, Congress approved a proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution which would provide the people of the District of Columbia with voting representation in both Houses of Congress. The proposed amendment will require the approval of two-thirds of the States within the 7-year ratification period.

The 68.25 square mile District of Columbia lies at the confluence of the Anacostia and Potomac Rivers on land that was ceded by the State of Maryland. A small portion of the city which had been carved from the Virginia shore of the Potomac was returned to Virginia in 1846 and now forms the southern boundary of the District.

The site for the city was selected by George Washington. It rises from the lowlands abutting the Potomac River into the hills at the edge of the Maryland counties of Prince Georges and Montgomery. The District of Columbia became the Nation's Capital on December 1, 1800.

In 1802, a small portion of the District was incorporated into the city of Washington, governed by an appointed mayor and elected city council. Ten years later, the city's charter was amended to provide for an elected board of aldermen which, along with the council, selected the mayor. In 1820, the charter was again modified to allow the city of Washington to elect its mayor.

The remainder of the District was divided between the city of Georgetown and county of Washington until June 1, 1871, when the three separate jurisdictions were merged into a single municipality. The consolidated District was under a territorial form of government, headed by a governor and council named by the President.

In 1874, the Congress abolished the territorial government and established a three-member Board of Commissioners appointed by the President. This structure remained until 1967, when a single-Commissioner and appointed council became the predecessor to the present home rule government.

The District's first appointed single Commissioner, Walter E. Washington, was elected to serve as the first Mayor of the District of Columbia, taking office on January 2, 1975. The appointed council's Vice Chairman, Sterling Tucker, was elected Chairman of the city's first elected Council.

In November 1978, the 700,000 citizens of the District of Columbia elected their second mayor, Marion S. Barry, Jr., and council chairman, Arrington Dixon. The Reverend Walter E. Fauntroy was reelected to the seat of nonvoting Delegate to the House of Representatives.

RULES GOVERNING PRESS PHOTOGRAPHERS' GALLERY

1. (a) Administration of the Press Photographers' Gallery is vested in a Standing Committee of Press Photographers consisting of six persons elected by accredited members of the gallery. The Committee shall be composed of one member each from Associated Press Photos, United Press International Newspictures, magazine media, and local newspapers and two "at large" members. At large members may be, but need not be, selected from a media otherwise represented on the Committee.

(b) The term of office of a member of the Committee elected as the Associated Press Photos member, the local newspapers member, or one of the "at large" members shall expire on the day of the election held in the first odd-numbered year following the year in which he was elected, and the term of office of a member of the Committee elected as the United Press International Newspictures member, the magazine media member, or the remaining "at large" member shall expire on the day of the election held in the first even-numbered year following the year in which he was elected, except that a member elected to fill a vacancy occurring prior to the expiration of a term shall serve only for the unexpired portion of such term.

(c) Elections shall be held as early as practicable in each year, and in no case later than March 31. A vacancy in the membership of the Committee occurring prior to the expiration of a term shall be filled by special election called for that purpose by the Committee.

(d) The Standing Committee of the Press Photographers' Gallery shall propose no change or changes in these rules except upon petition in writing signed by not less than 25 accredited members of the gallery.

2. Persons desiring admission to the Press Photographers' Gallery of the Senate shall make application in accordance with Rule 34 of the Senate, which rule shall be interpreted and administered by the Standing Committee of Press Photographers subject to the review and approval of the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration.

3. The Standing Committee of Press Photographers shall limit membership in the photographers' gallery to bona fide news photographers of repute in their profession and to Heads of Photographic Bureaus under such rules as the Standing Committee of Press Photographers shall prescribe.

4. Provided, however, that the Standing Committee of Press Photographers shall admit to the gallery no person who does not establish to the satisfaction of the Committee all of the following:

(a) That any member is not engaged in paid publicity or promotion work or in prosecuting any claim before Congress or before any department of the Government, and will not become so engaged while a member of the gallery.

(b) That he or she is not engaged in any lobbying activity and will not become so engaged while a member of the gallery.

The above rules have been approved by the Committee on Rules and Administration.

CLAIBORNE PELL,

Applicants shall state in writing the names of all radio stations, television stations, systems, or news-gathering organizations by which they are employed and what other occupation or employment they may have, if any. Applicants shall further declare that they are not engaged in the prosecution of claims or the promotion of legislation pending before Congress, the Departments, or the independent agencies, and that they will not become so employed without resigning from the galleries. They shall further declare that they are not employed in any legislative or executive department or independent agency of the Government, or by any foreign government or representative thereof; that they are not engaged in any lobbying activities; that they do not and will not, directly or indirectly, furnish special information to any organization,

RULES GOVERNING PERIODICAL PRESS GALLERIES

1. Persons eligible for admission to the Periodical Press Galleries must be bona fide resident correspondents of reputable standing, giving their chief attention to the gathering and reporting of news. They shall state in writing the names of their employers and their additional sources of earned income; and they shall declare that, while a member of the Galleries, they will not act as an agent in the prosecution of claims, and will not become engaged or assist, directly or indirectly, in any lobbying, promotion, advertising, or publicity activity intended to influence legislation or any other action of the Congress, nor any matter before any independent agency, or any department or other instrumentality of the Executive Branch; and that they will not act as an agent for, or be employed by the federal, or any state, local or foreign government or representatives thereof; and that they will not, directly or indirectly, furnish special or "insider" information intended to influence prices or for the purpose of trading on any commodity or stock exchange; and that they will not become employed, directly or indirectly, by any stock exchange, board of trade or other organization or member thereof, or brokerage house or broker engaged in the buying and selling of any security or commodity. Applications shall be submitted to the Executive Committee of the Periodical Correspondents' Association and shall be authenticated in a manner satisfactory to the Executive Committee.

2. Applicants must be employed by periodicals that regularly publish a substantial volume of news material of either general, economic, industrial, technical, cultural or trade character. The periodical must require such Washington coverage on a continuing basis and must be owned and operated independently of any government, industry, institution, association, or lobbying organization. Applicants must also be employed by a periodical that is published for profit and is supported chiefly by advertising or by subscription, or by a periodical meeting the conditions in this paragraph but published by a non-profit organization that, first, operates independently of any government, industry, or institution and, second, does not engage, directly or indirectly, in any lobbying or other activity intended to influence any matter before Congress or before any independent agency or any department or other instrumentality of the Executive Branch. House organs are not eligible.

3. Members of the families of correspondents are not entitled to the privileges of the galleries.

4. The Executive Committee may issue temporary credentials permitting the privileges of the Galleries to individuals who meet the rules of eligibility but who may be on short term assignment or temporarily resident in Washington.

5. Under the authority of Rule 34 of the House of Representatives and of Rule 34 of the Senate, the Periodical Galleries shall be under the control of the Executive Committee, subject to the approval and supervision of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration. It shall be the duty of the Executive Committee, at its discretion, to report violations of the privileges of the Galleries to the Speaker or the Senate Committee on Rules and Administration, and pending action thereon, the offending correspondent may be suspended. The Committee shall be elected at the start of each Congress by members of the Periodical Correspondents' Association, and shall consist of seven members with no more than one member from any one publishing organization. The Committee shall elect its own officers, and a majority of the Committee may fill vacancies on the Committee. The list in the Congressional Directory shall be a list only of members of the Periodical Correspondents' Association.

Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr.,
Speaker, House of Representatives.

Claiborne Pell,
Chairman, Senate Committee on Rules and Administration.
